Peace Counts on Tour establishes meeting platforms in conflict regions for dealing with successful examples of worldwide peacemaking. Based on fascinating reports about charismatic peacemakers presented in the exhibition

„Peacebuilders Around the World“, the project is an approved and globally applicable educational setting for multipliers and journalists. The shared motto is: „How to make peace?“

„Peace Counts on Tour“ is a project of the Culture Counts Foundation, the press agency „Zeitenspiegel“ and the Institute for Peace Education Tuebingen. It was initiated by the CEO of the Culture Counts Foundation Michael Gleich. The journalists and photographers of „Zeitenspiegel“ investigated, wrote and published the reports of successful peacebuilders around the world and the Institute for Peace Education Tuebingen developed the workshop concept and educational materials for the use in conflict regions.

The project is funded by „zivik“ a program of the „Institut fuer Auslandsbeziehungen“ and funds of the German Federal Foreign Office. Partner organizations are the „Gesellschaft für technische Zusammenarbeit“ (GTZ) and „Bread for the World“. „Peace Counts on Tour“ is executed by a team of experts in cooperation and coordination with local partners.

This video gives an overview of „Peace Counts on Tour“ and shows the course of a workshop held in New Delhi in March 2009. The movie offers an authentic impression of peace education in practice.

In 2009 the project was honored with the prestigious „Peter-Becker-Prize for Peace and Conflict Research“.
